Vinos Argentinos

While acreage of Malbec is declining in France, in Argentina the grape is surging and has become a “national variety” of sort that is uniquely identified with Argentine red wine. It is today the most widely planted red grape variety in the country.

The Torrontés is a uniquely Argentine white variety. It is grown in the provinces of Catamarca, La Rioja, Mendoza, Salta, San Juan and Rio Negro.

Torrontés has a low acidity, smooth texture and is characterized by distinctive peach and apricot aromas on the nose. It can be sweet or dry in flavour. The wines made from the Torrontés grape have been, for many years, the calling-card of Argentine Wine Producers and have received many international awards.

Vineyards

Just as in restaurants in Argentina, we have divided the wine list by order of the family that owns the vineyards, so you can learn where the wines come from.

Finca Flichman - Familia Flichman - Mendoza

In 1873, in the area of Barrancas, Maipú, Mendoza, the first vineyards of familia Flichman were planted in a depression formed by the Mendoza River. Towards the start of 1910, the Flichman family renamed the property with the name of Finca Flichman.

2009 Misterio - Malbec

2009 Misterio - Shiraz

Trivento - Familia Trivento - Mendoza

Trivento means three winds. Across the sunny and semi-arid province of Mendoza, the Polar, Zonda and Sud-estada winds blow. Each agitating seasonal wind pierces the intimate calm of Mendoza and forges the trials and challenges that leave their mark in our wines.

2009 Trivento Reserva - Chardonay

2005 Trivento Reserva - Malbec

2005 Trivento Reserva - Cab Sauv - Malbec

Bodega Luigi Bosca - Familia Arizu - Mendoza

The Arizus family take pride in a winemaking tradition that was born more than one hundred years ago. This is also where their commitment to improving vintage after vintage and to better understand those who choose their wines takes root. Luigi Bosca's future is challenging and he is always thinking ahead. Its present is focused on the combination of daily work with the creation of new ideas. This is Bodega Luigi Bosca, this is how the Arizu family was created and this is how their history begins everyday, because their past is always a prologue to their future.

2008 Finac la Linda - Rose (malbec)

2008 Finac la Linda - Temparnillo

2007 Finac la Linda - Cabernet Sauvignon

2007 Finac la Linda - Syrah

2008 Luigi Bosca - Pino Noir Res

Jed Wines - Uco Valley - Mendoza

With combined winemaking experience in Australia, France and North and South America, Jed's three young Australian winemakers have traveled the world's wine regions in search of ideal vineyard sites. This search led the trio to the Uco Valley in Mendoza (Argentina), whose pristine environment yields elegant wines with unrivaled purity. Mendoza has an extraordinary 450 years winemaking history, however, only in the last 10 years has the Uco Valley emerged as one of the world's most exciting wine producing regions.

2008 Jed - Blanc de Blanc Sparkling

2009 Jed - Sauvignon Blanc

2008 Jed - Malbec

Bodega Pulenta Estate - Familia Pulenta - Mendoza

Previous owners of the internationally renowned Trapiche Winery, the Pulenta family are well versed in exceptional wine production with an intimate knowledge and understanding of their vineyards. Pulenta's vineyard and stunning winemaking facility is located in the prestigious Lujan del Cuyo sub-region of Mendoza province of Argentina.
